The Story of ESCI: 1967-2000 (Models & Figures) (Models and Figures) Jean-Christophe Carbonel

This famous Italian brand will continue to be known for having introduced many innovations in the world of modeling, starting with the wide dissemination of newly available decals, the first large-scale military motorcycles and the first European armored models in 1/72. ESCI was also a pioneer in offering multiple variations of the same model allowing one to visualize the markings or parts unique to the model, in addition to the first (and sometimes first-ever) kits for large cockpit combat aircraft.

The creation of the ESCI firm predates World War II and is known for its models appearing for the first time in the early seventies.
